

A BOY'S FATAL PANIC COST NINETEEN LIVES

The Overturning of a Ferry Boat in the Swollen Hudson

A Boy Who Had Been Frightened the Day Before Became Terror Stricken at the Splashing of the Water—The Other Occupants of the Boat Rushed Toward Him and the Vessel Was Overturned—Only One Body Recovered—There Is Little Hope of Finding the Others in the Gorged River—Most of the Victims Were Italian Laborers.

Glen's Falls, N. Y., March 7.—Nineteen men are dead as a result of the capsizing of a boat used by workmen at the Spruill Falls, about ten miles west of Glen's Falls, on the Hudson river. More than a thousand men are employed there at present in the construction of the power dam of the Hudson River Power Company. The men and many masons are Italians who live in shanties on the north side of the river. The main portion of the work is at present on the opposite side of the river. The men have been in the habit of crossing a small bridge where the river flows through an unfinished portion of the dam, but the river has been rising several days and the company fearing the bridge was unsafe, destroyed it with dynamite.

Below the work about half a mile is a ferry. The boat is a row-boat affair, thirty feet long and thirteen feet wide, and is operated by means of cables. It is large enough to carry a heavily loaded team, and as many as 150 men have been taken across at one time. Yesterday, when the men were being ferried across, an Italian boy became frightened and fell overboard. He was rescued, however.

This morning seventy or eighty men got aboard. When a few feet from shore the water splashed against the rail, and the boy who had fallen overboard the previous day, seized one of the ropes which ran from the cable to the stern of the boat. Some men started toward him, and instantly the boat capsized and filled, every one being thrown into the water. The Hudson, swollen by the rains, bore a score or more struggling men down the stream. Many others succeeded in catching hold of the boat which was righted, and clung there until pulled ashore. Teams were quickly harnessed and loaded with skilled loggrivers and sent down long the river to points where the bodies would likely be found. Dozens of dinner pails, hats and coats were fished out, but it was nearly six o'clock before the first body was found. This was found in a log jam two miles below the dam. The river for miles is being watched and dragged in the hopes of finding the bodies of the other victims. But two or three English speaking men were on the boat, the Italians being all designated by number. The rolls were called and tonight everybody has been accounted for except nineteen men, and it is certain that these were drowned.

There are known to be dead: M. Kennedy, leaves a wife and four children; P. Foran, Italian, interpreter, married; The Italian boy who started the panic; Sixteen others are missing. The bodies will not be recovered as the river is full of ice and at the high boom five miles down the river there are many thousands of logs.

Each good-looking young woman received. Further testimony was to the effect that the girls are secured and held prisoners and forced to wear garments that make it impossible for them to escape to the streets.

Mr. Sankey rallied at once, the pain and suffering being relieved, but it is too soon to express a definite opinion as to the result of the operation.

A STRIKE AVERTED
IN ILLINOIS DISTRICT

A Conference Yesterday at Which There Were Mutual Concessions

Springfield, Ill., March 7.—A strike of 3,000 coal miners in Illinois was averted today afternoon when the operators and miners of the state met in joint conference, signed an agreement for the year commencing April 1903. The miners receded from their demand of nine cents over the Indianapolis scale in the first district or in the Northern Tenth Vain, and ten cents over the same scale in Williamson county.

The agreement for a six cent raise over last year's prices all over the state was the main concession on the part of the operators and miners at Indianapolis. The operators wanted to charge $1.50 per ton for powder, and the miners were willing to pay but $1.10. The latter figure was agreed on.

ASKING QUESTIONS.
An Inquiry Changed a Man's Whole Life.

When you get a man to recognize that his bad feelings come from improper food and that he can get well by using scientific food, the battle is half won. One of New York's business men says:

"I was troubled for a long time with indigestion, headache and stomach trouble, and had taken various medicines but with no good results. I concluded to see how a change of food would affect me. I never cared particularly for cereals of any kind, but ate meat and pastry continually and drank coffee. I found on inquiry that Grape-Nuts were highly spoken of and decided to give them a trial. To say I was surprised at the result would not begin to do justice to my feelings. My head aches left me; my brain became clearer and active; my attacks of indigestion grew fewer and fewer until they ceased entirely, and where I once went home tired, fagged out and indisposed to any exertion whatever, I now found a different state of affairs. My color was good, my muscles strong and firm and fully equal to anything I asked of them. Instead of soft and flabby, I live two miles from my business and walk it daily back and forth. If the weather permits, I am 55 years old and feel as well and strong as when I was 30, and can ride 70 miles a day on a bicycle without feeling any bad results." ## POLICE ERRED IN BURDICK CASE

Arrest of Young Woman Employed by Murdered Man

It Is Denied That She Was Under Arrest, but Was Wanted to Give Information—The Mystery Is No Nearer Solution Than on Night of the Murder.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 7.—In their eagerness to solve the mystery surrounding the assassination of Edwin L. Burdick, the police today made a false move. They immediately rescinded their steps when it was found that the district attorney considered their case to be entirely flimsy.

Miss Marian M. Hutchinson, a young woman formerly employed in Burdick's office, was taken to the police headquarters by detectives at an early hour. She was not under arrest, the police say. Her attorney says she was. After being detained five hours, she was released because the police could find absolutely nothing against her.

The result of the day's work brings the authorities no nearer the solution of the mystery than a week ago. Miss Hutchinson, who is a very attractive woman in appearance, came here about a year ago in company with her mother and sister Florence, from London, Ont. Soon after arriving in the city Miss Hutchinson secured a position on a monthly paper edited by Burdick at his factory. Last January she left his employ. She has since been singing in a church choir, but has not been employed at any kind of work.

Philip V. Kennedy, the attorney acting for Seth T. Faine, obtained from Justice White, of the supreme court, a writ of habeas corpus, directing the police to bring Miss Hutchinson before the court. The police said that she was not under arrest, and she was allowed to go.

Later the following statement was given out: "What seemed to be reliable information having reached the police department last evening that a certain young woman living in the city might have some valuable information regarding the murder of Burdick, we requested this woman to come to police headquarters this morning and give any information she might have. She came and made a statement. She was at no time under arrest."

CAUGHT IN A SNOW SLIDE.
Overtaken at Night and Asleep in a Utah Canyon.

Salt Lake, Utah, March 7.—A special from Vernon, Utah, says that Frank Burns of Salt Lake was killed and his brother John Burns and J. W. Taylor injured in a snowslide in Oakbrush Canyon. The men were working a claim near the head of the canyon and were asleep at the time. The snow tore their cabin to pieces and carried the men down the mountainside for some distance. They succeeded in digging themselves out, but Frank Burns was seriously injured. The other two started for help in the night clothes, and Taylor, in the teeth of a storm, succeeded in reaching Benoni's house, six miles away. The last half mile he crawled on his hands and knees. The rescuing party found John Burns' body but Frank's has not been recovered.

KANSAS SALOONS
Can No Longer Be Proceeded Against by Injunction.

Topeka, Kan., March 7.—The supreme court today decided that the clause in the Kansas prohibitory law allowing the closing of joints by injunction was invalid. The court held that the law, passed two years ago, repealed the old statute. Many prosecutions against jointists have been carried on by means of injunction proceedings.

THE WABASH SITUATION

Working and Waiting

The Employees Getting Their Answer to the Injunction Ready

The Railroad Company Curious to See What It Will Look Like—President Ramsey Says That the Injunction Need Be No Obstacle to an Amicable Settlement Between the Road and Its Employees—He Is Willing to Hear the Committee on the Subject of Their Grievances—Not a Wage Dispute.

St. Louis, Mo., March 7.—"We are working on the answer to the injunction," said Judge Irwin, chief counsel for the Wabash employees tonight. "We are waiting on the answer to the injunction" said President Ramsey of the Wabash.

This epitomizes the situation and covers the two centers of interest in the present difficulty between the grievance committees representing the firemen and trainmen employees and the Wabash railroad. Ramsey stated tonight that notwithstanding the injunction, he is perfectly willing to meet any of the employees and consider any grievances they may have to present to him, with the view of coming to an amicable settlement.

Counsel for the firemen and trainmen spent today busily at work upon a voluminous answer to the writ of injunction. As to the magnitude of the strike, should one be ordered, both sides are noncommittal in their opinions. As to just when it will be declared in case the injunction is dissolved, no statement is made.

In an interview with Ramsey he was asked by the Associated Press tonight: "Suppose that pending the final decision of the court on this injunction there are any matters connected with the question at issue between company and employees which they want to settle, are you willing to meet them, regardless of the injunction?" "Certainly," replied Ramsey. "As I have stated before, I do not consider the injunction proceedings as interposing any obstacle between the company and its employees in the way of settling the questions now at issue, or any other question, and I am ready at any time to meet any committee of employees and settle the supposed grievances that can be adjusted between us."

"What will be your next move in case the injunction is dissolved and the strike is ordered?" "Then there will be but one thing to do in such an event," he replied, and "that will be to fill or endeavor to fill all the places made vacant by the strikers and go on with the conduct of the traffic of the Wabash railroad."

John Hopkins, chairman of the general committee of the railway conductors, has made a statement detailing the grievances held by the employees. He states that the real grievance is not a case of wages but a violation of the old schedule.

THE BRIDGE STRIKE.
President of Workers Tells Why It Was Ordered.

Philadelphia, March 7.—President Buchanan of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers today issued a statement giving as the reasons for the general strike against the American Bridge company, that work in the various cities has been sublet to non-union men contrary to established working rules.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 7.—No change has taken place in the structural iron workers' strike in this district. The general strike order stops work at Ambridge, the mills at Homestead, McKeesport, Monessen, Clairton, and on the two railroad bridges in this city, the Pennsylvania and the Wabash, affecting altogether about 1000 men.

A VANCOUVER BID.
For the Corbett-Jeffries Fight.

Vancouver, B. C., March 7.—L. H. Cohn, manager of the Vancouver baseball club, has offered a purse of $25,000 for a twenty-round contest between J. J. Corbett and J. J. Jeffries. Cohn declares that he has the assurance of the club officers that a twenty round contest will be permitted in this city, but in case any question should be raised, he could pull off the fight at North Vancouver, a suburb across the inlet, a mile from this city, but outside the city limits.

Cohn proposes to erect an immense tent and desire to bring off the fight in the early summer.
